TULIPS

Holland's Finest

now offered at very low prices.

Most of you, no doubt, are familiar with the fact, that the bulb-industry, for more than one reason, has always been speculative; novelties of proven merits changed hands for fabulous sums and the wide awake grower is continuously on the look out for something superior.

For the past five years there has been little or no interest, nor capital for such wild speculations, with the result, that there is now a surplus of many fine novelties, which were never offered to the Public, due to the fact, that the prices were prohibitive.

Our Nurseries being equipped to supply America's fine gardens, we have always grown the finer varieties and from year to year we have added the most meritorious novelties to this collection, for which very high prices were paid. Sofar we have not been able to sell one bulb.

Under the present circumstances we must make an attempt to liquidate a small part of the capital invested, we must try to dispose of our surplus, since the Government has forced us to cut down the acreage of our Nurseries.

We therefor offer to you in the following pages our complete collection of Tulip novelties at less than one tenth of the price, which we paid for them, hoping, that every Tulip enthusiast will make use of this opportunity to secure a completely new collection of Tulips.

The Triumph Tulips originate from crossing Single and Double Early Tulips with Darwin Tulips, which gave them the form and habits of the Darwin Tulips and the early blooming period of the Early Tulips.

Dutch Exhibition Hyacinths.

These consist of the largest and finest selected bulbs of the Dutch Hyacinths and are best used for potwork. After they have been dried and stored in a cool place, they should be potted up in a light sandy soil; do not use new pots, unless they have been soaked for some time. Before plunging them in a cool spot, the ground should be soaked; a layer of sand on top of the pots, to prevent damaging the crowns, when removing the pots during frost, is advisable. When bringing them in the greenhouse, keep the bulbs in subdued light, until the bud is sufficiently grown out of the bulb; temperature about 70 F., a little lower when the flower is visible.

Narcissus - Poetaz.

The Poetaz group has never had the recognition it deserves. Its greatest merit is that all of them will force easily. This, added to the fragrance and the attractive coloring of the flowers, has given them a very ready sale in Europe.

All Poetaz are hybrids from Poeticus Ornatus \times Polyanthus Narcissi such as Soleil d'Or. The plants are tall and vigorous growers, bearing heads of large well-formed flowers, deliciously fragrant, and they have the great advantage over the Polyanthus types of being much hardier. There is no better group for indoor culture in flats, pots or bowls, while if planted in time their hardiness outdoors leaves nothing to be desired.

Tingitana Hybrids.

The following varieties are not quite hardy and should be used for greenhouse forcing only. It is understood, that the Iris Hollandica are also excellent for forcing.

Selected large bulbs, such as offered in this catalog, will succeed best for early forcing; they should be potted up immediately in deep pots, $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches apart, whereby most any clean soil may be used; a little decomposed manure, thoroughly mixed will help, in case the soil is very poor. Water soil before potting, because Iris never start in dry soil. Plunge pots outside, bringing them in the greenhouse around November 15th., keeping them cool. Iris do not stand a high temperature. As soon as the buds are palpable, the temperature may be increased gradually until they are ready. Be sure to water frequently.
